Nine Seniors Named To College Who's Who

Phi Beta Lambda Established As Student Workers Club

Phi Beta Lambda a professional organization for student workers on GTC campus, was established in an organizational meeting Monday night. Tentative advisors are Kirbylene Stephens and Don McDougald.

Those serving on the organization committee are Lillie Chambers, Sue Whaley, John Tootle, Bill Jackson, Clarence Miller, Carlton Humphrey, Ellen Blizard, Virginia Sikes, Miss Jane Martin, and Miss Stephens. This committee met at Miss Stephens' Monday night and the following objectives were set up as the purposes for organizing the club.

The first objective is to promote better working standards of performance by student assistants. A second is to foster a great appreciation of the contributions made by workers. Third, to establish in these students a feeling of pride in the knowledge that they are helping defray the expenses of their college education.

Included in these organization purposes is to make it possible for student workers to know the other student workers. Organizers of the club feel that there is a mutual bond among working students and want all assistants to know each other. Through the club, student workers will become acquainted by participating in club social activities.

Many of the students have not as of yet heard of the club because of their busy schedules and because the club is still in the organization processes. A meeting of all student workers is being set for a future date. All students who are employed by the college, 129 now on jobs and an additional 50 on the waiting list, are eligible for membership in their organization.

MEC Club Sees Comic Opera Don Pasquales

Wednesday night the Music Education Club piled into a bus headed for the comic opera, "Don Pasquales," in Savannah, Georgia. This opera is considered one of Donizetti's comic masterpieces.

Twenty-five music majors and minors sat wide-eyed and thrilled at this fresh interpretation of the comedy. They had previously gotten an idea of what the opera would be like at their meeting Tuesday night, at which time they viewed a film concerning the opera.

The following officers were elected last quarter for the 1955-56 school term:

Persident, Bob Priestly, iPittsburg, Pa.; 1st vice president, James Jones, Twin City; 2nd vice president, Earl (Juicy) Smith, Sylvania; secretary, Cecile Woodard, Hazelhurst; treasurer, Milton Norris, Albany; tour chairman, Billy Kinchen, Hazelhurst; and historian, Virginia Sikes, Collins.

Beat the Draft! Take This Test

College students interested in taking the Selective Service College Qualification Test have until midnight, Tuesday, November 1 to submit application, it was announced today by Dean Carroll, test supervisor. The test center in this area is Georgia Teachers College (college library audio visual room).

To be eligible to apply for the test, scheduled to be given to college students throughout the United States, November 17, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test. The purpose of the testing program is to provide evidence for the use of local boards in considering deferment of a registrant from military service as a student.

Two Nationally Known Quartets To Appear Here

The nationally known Oak Ridge Quartet of Nashville, Tennessee plus the Chuck Wagon Gang of Fort Worth, Texas will appear in the new gym Tuesday, November 8 at 8 o'clock.

These quartets have made numerous recordings which are often played over WWNS. They have made appearances in Atlanta, Macon, Augusta, and Savannah, and the hundreds of Statesboro people and Georgia Teachers College students will be pleased to know that they will be able to see and hear them on this campus.

The quartets promise all who attend the concert an evening of entertainment designed for the listening pleasure of all who love and appreciate quartets.

The advance ticket admission is 50 cents and $1. Advance tickets are on sale at the College Pharmacy. If tickets are bought at the door they will be 75 cents and $1.25.

This gospel sing is sponsored by the Georgia Teachers College Athletic Association.

THEATRE PASSES

Mr. Hal Macon, owner and operator of the Georgia, State and Family Auto Drive-In, has announced that student identification cards are now applicable at all three theatres. These cards enable students to attend the shows at a reduced rate.

Kilpatrick Leaves After Busy 4 Days

Dr. William H. Kilpatrick returns to New York City tomorrow after completing a busy four days of conferences and lectures on campus.

His week here began with the Wednesday assembly address in which he cited changes he has observed in education during his 65 years of professional activity in the field. His conclusions were that education has come a long way from the old days of strict discipline in study and conduct. "Students must understand in order to hear," he said, citing this new philosophy as an about-face from the 18th concept of forcing the child to memorize his lessons as follows rules "which made no sense."

Wednesday afternoon he told the GTC faculty and the county teachers that the primary aim of all teaching should be to direct the student toward "the good life" and a better civilization.

A former student and later a colleague of the late John Dewey, Dr. Kilpatrick is a native of White Plains. Starting out as an elementary teacher at Blakely, Georgia, in 1893, he is now considered the nation's foremost figure in education. He has been at Columbia since 1909, has been around the world twice, is the author of a dozen books, and has written scores of articles. He estimates that he has taught 35,000 students.

Industrial Arts Sells Stationery

The Industrial Arts Club has established a printing business on campus and are offering a fine quality of personalized stationery. The stationery is printed on fine stock and carries a variety of type styles.

The price is so low that anyone can afford it, says the club. Salesmen have been assigned to call on each dormitory, so be on the lookout for them. Sample pamphlets have been made up to help you decide.

Sadie Hawkins Week Set Nov. 8

"We is Declarin' Sadie Hawkins Week" ... say the boys and girls of the T Club and Women's Recreation Association.

Yes, the Sadie Hawkins Day activities which were originated by Cartoonist Alfred Gerald Caplin, (Al Capp to comic fans), are going to be in full swing on the GTC campus from November 8 through 11.

The day was an invention of Mr. Capp for his comic strip, entitled "Lil' Abner." He introduced the day in 1938 as an occasion upon which the maidens and spinsters of the mythical town of Dogpatch might lawfully chase all unattached males of the community in a free-for-all race. The culprits were obliged to "marry up" with the females who caught them.

Mr. Capp was probably unaware that he was filling a gap in the American cultural pattern. For several years past, the day has been observed in many localities of the United States. It has been particularly popular on a large number of the college campuses where the Dogpatch ceremonies are humorously reenacted as an annual occurrence on November 9.

The festivities at GTC will get underway Monday, November 7, when the student body will be initiated to the idea at assembly.

Were Picked By Students And Faculty

Nine GTC seniors have been chosen to be included in the 1956 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Cathy Holt, Carlton Humphrey, John Tootle, Heyward Gann, Etta Ann Akins, Shirley Rountree, Lewis Strickland, Harriet Woodard, and Bob Sears were chosen for the honor by students in nominations last spring and by faculty nominations this quarter.

The following qualities are included when making the selections:

1. The student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship.
2. His leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities.
3. His citizenship and service to the school.
4. His promise of future usefulness to business and society.

Cathy Holt, from Albany, has been a member of the George-Anne, last year was a member of the Student Council, and served on the social committee.

She is a member of the Wesley Foundation, and served as secretary for the organization in 1954. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education. Other activities in which she has participated include Student Christian Association, En Melodie, Masquers, Philharmonic Choir, Concert Band, MEC, Alpha Phi Omega. She has held an officer's post in each of these organizations.

Carlton Humphrey, Milledgeville, is at present copy editor of the George-Anne, and last year was managing editor and editor of the publication.

He was class president during his junior year, served on the Sanford Hall House Council and the Inter-dormitory Council in 1953-54, and is now a member of the social committee. He was president of Masquers last year, and is a member of the English club. He is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

John Tootle, a veteran transfer from Brigham Young University, Utah, is president of the Student Council, a member of Wesley Foundation and the Future Business Leaders of America Club. Lewis Strickland, veteran from Hinesville, is editor of the Reflector and last year served as business manager for the an-

Who are We to Say?

By BRITT FAYSSOUX

There appeared in this paper last week a letter to the editor which stated that due to a bulletin issued from the Dean of Women's office, no slacks or blue jeans could be worn on campus, except on very rare occasions, such as at night during the break. The girls who wrote this letter feel that this is an unfair rule.

Obviously there are two sides to this question and the writer of this moral guide and bearer of intelligence would like to look at them both. The Dean feels that an institution of this type must have rules and most everyone agrees—but should these rules include telling an adult (college girls are considered young adults) what to wear?

Granted, many of the girls on campus don't dress to suit the taste of some of the boys. I personally don't like to see girls in jeans or slacks, but does this give me the right to tell them they can't wear this mode of dress?

WHOOOPS!

The main argument against women wearing long pants is that it is undignified and unlady-like. After seeing some of these tight skirts and lowneck dresses which are worn today, slacks and jeans seem very tame indeed. If we start telling people they can't wear one form of dress it will be very easy to ban any other type of dress.

Before long we will be back to 1926—navy bloomers nine inches from the floor, white middie blouses, and cotton hose—don't think it would look right in 1955. Back in the early

Let's Vary the Food

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

Some time ago, in the interest of science, an announcement was made that it is now possible for the human being to exist, in good health, on only a few capsules each day. This announcement has gone no further than the supposition stage for one reason: mealtime is one bright spot in the activities of a busy day.

No one but a scientist would be expected to eat only a few pills for Sunday dinner and enjoy the meal week after week. And by the same token, no one but a GTC student would be expected to enjoy chicken, rice, English peas, rolls, strawberry shortcake, and tea for Sunday dinner week after week, year after year (not to mention hamburgers on Mondays, ham on Wednesdays, etc., etc., etc.)

It is natural that soldiers or college students complain about everything that can be put into a complaint. But for the past few weeks, the complaints overheard by the George-Anne staff haven't been about the weather so much as the fact that on any given day of the week the same food is served that was served on the same day of the past week (and all past weeks, as far back as any student can remember.)

Slightly under this complaint as far as recurrence of the same theme is concerned, is the fact that foods are always served in the same combinations (e.g. rice with chicken instead of creamed potatoes).

It seems that the dining hall staff, without too much exertion, could shuffle the menu cards and come up with some exciting variations in the food line.

Then maybe obesity could stand the chance of becoming a problem with GTC food lovers.

1900's women were arrested for wearing slacks and shorts in public, for driving an automobile without a male in attendance, for putting too much paint on their faces, or cutting their hair too short. Since the emancipation of the female these things have changed. If we followed these rules today we would have to call the paddy wagon and haul most of the girls on campus to the local jug.

We believe if an institution is to survive it must have rules which are enforced; but when it comes to the point where we have to tell adults what to wear and when to wear it, aren't we assuming too many of the responsibilities that belong to others?

Letter To The Editor

Collegeboro, Ga.

Dear Sir:

I have two criticisms to make and I think the majority of the student body feels the same way I do.

The first criticism is the college band. I think they waste entirely too much time between songs. Why can't they arrange their music where they can go from the top of the stack through the bottom? instead of thumbing through the stack each time. It seems to me it would be much simpler.

It's almost like I heard someone say: "This is the only dance I've ever been to where you can go out, smoke and drink a Coca-Cola and return without missing a song."

Students don't go to dances to sit and look at each other. They go to dance.

The other criticism is the College Grill's juke box. They have the volume entirely too low. If you play the juke when the place is crowded you just waste your money. Unless you are one of the lucky ones sitting next to the juke.

I wonder if they will compromise with us and turn the volume up a little?

Thanks,
A SENIOR.

Dear Editor:

What is GTC now—a dog pound? No matter where you go or what you do, there is always a dog on hand. Are they here as new students or do they help decorate the campus. Maybe they are here because some people on campus want to emphasize the idea of GTC being a friendly college, even to harmless little dogs that get in fights in the class room and by the dining hall line.

No one likes to eat a meal with a dog for his companion. Everything and everybody has a place in life, so isn't there someone on campus who can keep these friendly little creatures in a place so that we will always think of dogs as such?

GTC Tags . . .

The "T" Club of Georgia Teachers College is now selling Georgia Teachers tags to make money for the club treasury. Buddy Ward, president of the club, is leading this campaign.

If you see Chester Webb roaming around the campus with a bundle of little tags—beware! He'll surely sell you one before you know it!

Be sure and buy yours now! Help support your "T" Club. They are the boys working to make your team the one that comes up on top.

These signs will not only help the "T" Club raise money, but it is also good advertisement for the school.

Subscriptions

The George-Anne business staff has announced that GTC students who wish to have copies of the student paper sent home to their parents may do so, providing a subscription fee of 50 cents be paid. The paper will be mailed each week for the remainder of the school year.

Subscriptions may be obtained from the following dormitory representatives; Lewis Hall, Ellen Blizzard; East Hall, Mickie Webb; West Hall, Cecile Woodard; Cone Hall, Gene Meadows; and Sanford Hall, Sammy Powell.

Front Gate Sign?

Last year there were some big plans made to have a large new sign for the entrance to our campus. "Wha Hoppen?" This year it seems the sign has been completely forgotten.

There is a small sign just opposite the front gate, but we feel that it is inadequate for Georgia's only teachers college and one of the finest in the country. Highway 301 is one of the most widely traveled roads in the United States. Many cars from states "Way up North" pass our campus everyday. Most of them are going so fast that our little sign looks like a white blur. We believe these "Yankees" should be greeted with a sign that will make them slow up and look.

Our school sits back among the "murmuring pines" and is difficult to see from the highway. If we had a large new sign it would draw attention and let people know we're here.

Most of the other schools in the state have this type sign already. We don't like to feel that we are lagging behind.

It seems the cheapest and fastest way for this project to be accomplished would be to have the industrial arts department do it. If for some reason, it isn't possible for them to make it, then the sign could be purchased. We don't believe the cost would be too much.

GTC is growing and, we realize that a new sign is not the most important of the needed improvements, but we believe it would be a good start

Do you believe in luck, chance, or the like? I believe everyone has a special little something they do to bring them luck. The person may not realize these small characteristics because he might do it out of habit. A habit developed in childhood could be the reason.

Athletes have a lot of superstitions that go unnoticed to the fans. With basketball being the main topic of conversation I thought I'd ask some of the basketball players if they had any special things they did before a game that might help them in the game.

Garland Campbell, Windfall, Ind.; "I don't know, I never thought too much about it but last year I always come out of the dressing room last."

Doug Corry, Union Point, Ga.;

"Since I was in high school I've been carrying a buckeye. I keep it with me all of the time and I always rub it before a game. That's my luck."

Don Wallen, Wheelwright, Ky.;

"I'm always the first to get dressed for the game. It seems I can relax better after I'm dressed and I can think about the ball game. I've been doing it since I was in high school."

Chester Webb, Elberton, Ga.;

"This is not a superstition but I always feel better after we have our huddle in the dressing room. Just clasping our hands together is all the encouragement I need."

Bo Warren, Ludowici, Ga.;

"I don't need a good luck charm, I just offer a silent prayer to the Lord and pray for a good game. I do like to eat cornbread before the game."

Dig that crazy truck of Du-Ward Whelchel's. It seems that he is going to turn out to be "our Boy Red-Top." Just for the benefit of you who haven't seen Du-Ward's hot-rod, it's a real-gone truck that backfires and squirts water out of the radiator at the same time! Some garget! Huh? And the thing that makes it so catty is that it is a convertible!

I've had several people to ask me to make a request of all of you who go over to the store at night. Here it is—Please don't be so loud and make so much noise during the hour you are over there. Be considerate of the people in East and Anderson Halls who are using that hour to study. How about it? Why not be a tad more considerate and enjoy yourself without so much noise?

It's that time again! I am referring to the fact that mid-quarter deficiencies are about to make their appearance on the scene. You know, some of us just can't win for losing. It seems that everytime we sorta think we're doing half-way OK, something like this has to come along to remind us that we aren't! It's a cruel world.

Cheerleader Tryouts

Competition was bursting out at the seams Tuesday as try-outs for cheerleaders got underway. The results from the untiring efforts and an earnest desire to make the squad, was a lot of sore muscles for all and faces beaming with happiness as the winners were announced.

Say, I've noticed that another large number of the freshman girls and boys aren't being real loyal to their rat hats. Just a word of advice to you who need it—those sophomores don't like it too much when your hats are forgotten, and they aren't carrying around their note pads for recording how the weather is. Nope, they have their eyes on you and rat day is yet to come!

Elem. Students Lead, Fizz Ed. Next in Majors

Out of 276 juniors and seniors attending GTC this year, only ten will not get a BS in education degree.

Elementary education majors comprise the majority of these future teachers.

The biggest field chosen by secondary education majors is physical education. Second to this is the business field with only a few majors less.

The actual statistics are as follows (including both juniors and seniors):

Elementary, 51; physical education, 43; business, 38; social science, 29; home economics, 16; English, 13; Industrial arts, 13, music, 12; general science, 9; and mathematics, 6.

Thirty-six do not know yet what their majors are.

the mail bus came in at that time of the day!

Sanford Episode

There was a few moments of flurried rushing going on in Sanford Hall Tuesday night. Someone who happened to have an extra pack of firecrackers left from the fourth of July, threw the burning pack into a towel in one of the boys' rooms.

Results, no one was hurt, the towel was a complete loss, and the odor that remained after the episode was—awful.

And while everything was going so gay and lively over Sanford way, there was a bit of weeping and gritting of teeth by some of the boys in Cone Hall! Why? Somebody gave a mighty hard test Tuesday, Stinker!

Don't forget the street dance Saturday night! See ya there!

Fun Festival At Pittman School

The Annual Halloween carnival, hailed as a festival of fun for everyone, is scheduled at the Marvin Pittman School Friday night beginning at 7:15.

After a 30-minute program in the school auditorium to crown the king and queen and prince and princess of the festival, the halls and classrooms will be opened for a gala carnival party.

It's the annual program to raise funds for special school equipment and supplies for which regular school appropriations are not made. Last year's program raised $700.

'Rhet. Teaching Is Best Job; Has One Flaw'

By LEWIS STRICKLAND

GTC is endowed with an abundance of tradition. However, more than a tradition on our campus is Mrs. Marjorie T. Guardia, for she is an inspiration.

Mrs. Guardia's endearing smile and friendly hello have been an inspiration to all who come in contact with her.

Mrs. Guardia feels much pride in her birthplace, Eatonton, Ga., since it is also the birthplace of Joel Chandler Harris, author of our well-beloved Uncle Remus stories. She attended the public schools in Eatonton. Mrs. Guardia received her BS in education and MA from George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. While working on these degrees, she also studied at Vanderbilt University.

Mrs. Guardia began her teaching career in the public schools of Georgia. She later taught in the Department of English at Peabody. While there, she met her husband, who was a professor in the social science department of the same school. She gave up the teaching profession when she married in 1933 and did not return until after her husband's death.

She came to Statesboro and Georgia Teachers College in September 1937. After renting a house for two years, she decided she loved Statesboro and built her own home on Kennedy Avenue, where she and her mother now live.

'Street Dance' Highlighted For This Weekend

Students who remain on campus this weekend and go to the Saturday night dance, will see that the Home Economics and Industrial Arts Clubs have given the social outlook of GTC a new twist. This new twist is the "Street Dance" sponsored jointly by these two clubs which is to be held tomorrow night, October 29, between the old gym and West Hall at 8 p. m.

A jitterbug contest will highlight the dance, and a prize of $5 will be given to the winning couple.

The Home Economics Club has charge of the refreshments and the publicity for the "Street Dance," and the IA Club has charge of the music (which will include round dancing, square dancing, and folk dancing), and will arrange the dancing area.

Mrs. Guardia has one daughter, Genevieve, who received her MA degree last August from Peabody and is now teaching in the Cartersville public schools. She says "I am very sure that teaching English is the best job in the world. The only flaw I can find is that the English teacher has more papers to correct than any other teacher."

Science Fair Is Planned For March

A work conference on science fairs was held September 30 and October 1 in Athens for the purpose of planning science fairs throughout Georgia.

Mr. Tully Pennington, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Alvin McLendon attended this workshop and reported that the First District will have a science fair sometime in the spring. He stated that it will be sometime in March, since it must precede the State Science Fair.

The First Congressional District was the first district in the state to sponsor and carry out a district fair. This district fair was held in 1952, and although the state had held a number of fairs, no one district had undertaken the task of a district fair.

'Up - To - Date'

By MICKIE WEBB

In case you think this article was originally written in 1920, well, it wasn't. It is just that it seems that everything that is coming out has been taken from the late "Twenties."

Even the hats are going back to the Twenties . . . the designers are coming out with the ones that sit down over the hair. If your hair happens to be short, you'll really be "up-to-date." Velvet gloves with handbags to match are coming back. These are found in bright colors: red, aqua, and gold.

I'm sure everyone has noticed the neat and narrow French heels. Everyone seems to be coming down from the real high to the "little" heels.

Collars are going out and taking their place are "dickies." These can be found either for sports to wear with V-neck sweaters or semi-dressy to wear with dresses. You can find them in linen and pique.

Thomas Cotton is really good for these cool-hot days. It appears to be a winter material but it's really cotton. I've seen a lot of dresses made out of this material trimmed with velvet or linen. It makes a pretty Sunday dress or you could wear them to class.

Plaid wool skirts and solid sweater with an extra button on collar and front piece are very nice. I saw many of these outfits on campus this weekend.

I have seen some of the boys on campus wearing plaid watch bands. This is real "snazzy." It seems the fad now is "dirty white bucks" instead of white bucks. This sure will save on the polish!

Boys, don't let me down . . . why not come out with a really new mad in fashion. I noticed one of our GTC boys in a pair of gold corduroy pants recently. He is staying in with the autumn colors. How about let's seeing some more of these.

The fad for boys and a few girls, too, will be hunting pants, boots, and hunting jackets because hunting season will soon be here.

'Til next week this is your fashion editor saying so long and let's all stay up-to-date with fashion.

Farkas Speaks to Women's Club

Dr. Zoltan Farkas, professor of foreign languages, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, October 19, held in Statesboro.

Stressing the importance of a knowledge of world affairs, of the work being done by the United Nations, he emphasized the need of study of foreign languages in our schools, beginning in the elementary grades.

Coach Searce Greets 7 Lettermen Nov. 1

Stetson Univ.
Opens Slate
On Dec. 3rd

Athletic director and basketball coach J. B. Searce Jr. this week released the Georgia Teachers College basketball schedule for 1955-56.

The Professors are set to play the NCAA limit of 26 games, 15 of them in their recently completed gymnasium.

New opponents on the schedule are Morningside College of Sioux City, Iowa; High Point College (N. C.); Kentucky Wesleyan, Owensboro; University of Mexico, Mexico City. Newberry College is back on the schedule after a year's absence.

Seven Lettermen

The Professors will return seven lettermen, including the entire starting five, from last year's team which won 20 and lost four. The starters from last year are team captain Chester Webb, Elberton; Doug Corry, Union Point; Howard (Bo) Warren, Ludowici; Garland Campbell, Windfall, Ind.; and Don Wallen, Wheelwright, Kentucky. Reserve letter winners last year were Wesley (Buddy) Ward, Harlan, Ky., and Emory Clements, Irwinville.

Don Avery, 6-5 center transfer from Brewton Parker, will strengthen the pivot position. The Ball Ground native played freshman ball at GTC two years ago.

Jim Harley will return to the squad at the end of the fall quarter (December 15). Harley entered the army at the end of his junior year, and last year was a first team selection on the all-Third Army tournament squad.

Practice November 1

Practice for both varsity and freshmen teams will officially begin November 1, in accordance with NCAA rules, which prohibit earlier sessions due to the fact that some colleges play football until late November.

The new gymnasium will also be the site of the District 25 NAIA playoffs, to be played on March 2-3, 1956. The winner will go to Kansas City for the national tournament, March 12-17.

SCHEDULE

December 3—Stetson University, here.
December 6—Newberry College, here.
December 8—Wofford College, here.
December 10—Florida Southern, Lakeland, Fla.
December 12—Morningside College, here.

G.T.C. Football Contest!

Win $10.00 Cash!

Pick The Winners !

Pick all winners and receive $10.00 cash. If no one gets all the winners, the person naming the most winners will receive $5.00 in cash from the George-Anne. In case of ties among contestants, the prize is equally divided.

1. In each ad on this page you will find two college teams scheduled to play football this week. Check the teams you think will win. Tie games count against you unless you mark them ties.
2. Mail or bring your entry sheet to the George-Anne, located in the Public Relations Office, not later than Friday noon of each week. Letters postmarked on or before this time will be accepted.
3. Members of the George-Anne staff are not eligible to win.

On The Sideline

By BOB DIXON

There is no general athletic ability and the good athlete is one who is fortunate enough to possess the several specific abilities required. The abilities that enter into the athlete's performance are strength, quickness and steadiness. Very few athletes are fortunate enough to possess all of these abilities, but those who do are usually all-around athletes.

A high school athlete with a record as outstanding as James Brantley's certainly cannot be overlooked. Brantley is the pride and joy of Coaches Frank Fabris and Ralph Parsons of Vidalia High School. While playing half back for the Vidalia High School Indians, Brantley has scored 97 points in the first six games this season. He was recently named back of the week by the Atlanta Journal and player of the week by The Macon Telegraph. Brantley made the all-state team in B classification last year as an end and he is a sure bet to repeat his performance this year as a half back.

Brantley's talent doesn't stop with football because he averaged 16 points per game in basketball last season. I might add that Brantley's basketball coach, Ralph Parsons, was a cage star for the GTC Professors a few years ago.

Another one of Brantley's hobbies is collecting first place medals in track. To be exact he has won 19 first place medals in district and state competition. In track he excels in the high hurdles, low hurdles, and the high jump.

In my opinion James Brantley is the best all-around high school athlete that I have ever seen.

Coach Clements' football class put on a fine show last week with an intrasquad game. I have learned that another intrasquad game has been scheduled for next week. If this game could be played on a Friday afternoon I would bet that a large crowd would be on hand. If you don't think that these boys play for keeps make it a point to see the game.

My crystal ball has really been acting up lately. It not only gave me a lot of bad predictions last week, but it also had a crazy dream that Brooklyn would win the World Series again next year. I wouldn't be surprised if it picked Georgia to play in the Gator Bowl in 1960.

Here's hoping that my luck will change this week.

My record for the season is 59, correct, 16 wrong, and 3 ties.

Cheerleaders For 1955-1956 Season Named

Athletic Director J. B. Searce Jr. disclosed this week that the new cheerleaders will be Nella Shepard, Swainsboro. Angel Sauls, Cuthbert, and Rosalyn Applegate, also of Swainsboro.

The girls were chosen by a committee made up of the athletic department and Chester Webb, GTC basketball captain. Chosen as alternates were Shelby Smith, Arlington, and Martha Tinker, Statesboro.

Returning from last year are Martha Evans, Newington, Diana Bair, Pelham, and Beverly Perkins, Richland.

Coach Searce was very pleased with the tryouts, held on Tuesday night at the new gym. "I think the new girls, combined with the holdovers from last year, will make up one of the best cheerleading teams we've ever had."

With the increased student body this year, the new gym should rock with cheers as the Profs try to have another great year.

Football Begins Fall Quarter IM Activities

By LOWELL RUSSELL

The intramural football program is now in full swing. The teams and captains have been appointed and plenty of competition among teams is expected.

There are five teams in the organization. Each class has one team except for the freshmen. There were so many boys interested in playing that it was necessary to form two teams to take care of the freshmen class.

The equipment is in very good shape including red shirts for one team to wear so that the boy can tell each other apart.

The field is located in the outfield part of the baseball diamond. It is equipped with goalposts and yard lines.

Two Games Played

Two games already had been played prior to Wednesday. On Monday the seniors and juniors battled down to the end of the game and found the score tied at 12 all. In the overtime period, the juniors edged over a touchdown as the seniors failed to hold. A pass interception by the juniors gave them the game by a score of 18-12.

Tuesday afternoon found the sophomores winning over the freshman "B" team in an exciting overtime period. This game featured strong line play by both teams. In the overtime period, the sophomores scored on a long pass play and then held the freshmen scoreless in four downs. The final score was 6-0.

Interest Expected

"Skeeter" Griffin, the intramural manager this year, made this comment. "There is expected to be plenty of interest shown in intramural football this quarter. I'm sure that many members from each class will come to see and support their team when it plays. This should include girls as well as boys."

Game time is 4 o'clock every afternoon Monday through Thursday.

Basketball Tickets on Sale; December 8 Set as Dedication

J. I. Clements Jr., athletic business director announced this week that season basketball tickets have now gone on sale. You may purchase these tickets at either the College Pharmacy or from the athletic department.

The price for the adult season ticket is $12 for the fifteen home games. For students (not college students) the price is $6 for the season. Regular admission at the door will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The students of GTC will be issued a book of tickets at a date to be announced later. These tickets will be non-transferable, and the athletic department reserves the right to take these tickets from anyone misusing them. Rules governing the use of these tickets are printed on the back of the book of tickets.

Here on campus we have some married couples where either the husband or wife is not a student, but lives here on campus. In such a situation the person who lives on campus does not attend college, will have to purchase a student's book for $6. The faculty will also be allowed to use this $6 book instead of the regular adult tickets.

The students and wives or husbands of students here at the college will have a reserved section of seats this coming season. They will be located on the east side, lower section. The balcony and the four middle sections on the west side of the lower section of the gym will be for the public. Our opening game will be against Stetson December 3.

On December 8, we play Wofford and this will be the dedication of the new gym. Governor Griffin will be at this dedication game.

'Aunt Sophie' Only Lady Dean of Men

By BRITT FAYSSOUX

"I love them good and bad.
I love 'em happy and love
'em sad.
I love 'em here and love 'em there.

I just love boys everywhere!"
This poem was quoted to me by Miss Sophie Johnson, our dean of men, and no words could better sum up her feelings for the boys to whom she has been so devoted for many years.

She was born in Wadley, Ga., and has lived there all her life.
After graduating from high school, she attended the Norman College in Athens. She left college before graduating and taught in the public schools of Georgia until coming to GTC.

For three summer school sessions she was the dean of women at Mercer. She relates that she gets along as well with girls as boys. "Aunt Sophie" came to GTC as assistant to Dr. Russell who was then dean of men and served under him for two years. Not having then completed the requirements for her degree she was permitted by Dr. Giv Wells, who was then president, to take one course each quarter until she received her degree.

Dr. Russell gave up the deanship of men and "Aunt Sophie" found herself in the unique position of being the only woman to serve as dean of men. She has been at GTC for 22 years and states that her work and friendships with the boys have always been most enjoyable.

"Aunt Sophie" has a tactful way of reminding some of us who are a bit lax in keeping our rooms tidied up by writing subtle little notes. These are both humorous and effective.
For instance, she recently took my wayward roommate to task by leaving these lines on his bed, "I wish my crooner, would make his bed sooner—Love Aunt Sophie." Aunt Sophie always ends her notes with love regardless of the cause of her note.

We know that we will be better men for having known her;
and those of "her boys" who have been a success, we are sure, owe it in part to the influence of living under her guidance. We wish to express our warmest regards for, and our sincere thanks to, our
"Aunt Sophie."

Leathernecks Gave Cartoonist Vital Knowledge

Cartoonist for the George-
Anne this quarter is Charlie Williams, from Whigham, Georgia.

After graduating from Whig-ham High School, Charlie enlisted in the Marine Corps on January 9, 1951. While in the marines, he worked in the staff office, at the Headquarters of the Marine Corps in Washington, D. C. Here his acquaintance and association with the artists of the Leatherneck magazine helped to further his knowledge of cartooning, layout, illustration, and design. This knowledge is quite essential to meet the requirements of a good newspaper cartoonist.

When he had completed his four-year term in the Marine Corps on January 8, 1955, Charlie decided to enter college at GTC. A resident of Sanford Hall, he is now enrolled in the Registrar's office as a first quarter freshman.

Many of Charlie's present classmates are professed admirers of his ease and ability at the drawing board.

and is currently president of the GTC Alumni Association.

Home Ec. Association Held Fall Workshop on Campus

Sanford 'Mom' Wouldn't Swap Boys for Girls

By JIMMY SNOOKS

I wonder how much the boys in Sanford know about the history of their "Mom?" If their knowledge of her past is lacking, perhaps the following excerpts from her life will prove interesting.

Her maiden name was Cleo Coleman and she was born near Sparta, in June 1896, one of a family of 10 children. She finished high school in Sparta and received her BS from GSCW in 1916. She graduated with a major in social sciences and physical education.

After receiving her BS Mrs.
Franklin taught school at Thomasville, Ft. Valley, and Vance Jr. High, Ashville, N. C.
Also in the ten-year period, 1916 to 1926, she did graduate work at the University of Georgia, and the University of N. C. but she did not complete MS requirements.

She was married in 1926 to Lucien Franklin who died in 1952. They had no children. In September, 1953, Mrs. Franklin came to GTC as house mother of Sanford Hall.

When asked if she would rather be a "Mom" in one of the girls' dormitories she said:
"I wouldn't trade my boys for the girls anytime, and you can quote me." All during her married life she was active in civic affairs, spending most of her time working with boys in the YMCA and Salvation Army. So this position is nothing new to her.

Atlanta is Site Of Church Meet

The Georgia Methodist Student Conference will be held in Atlanta on November 4-6 this year. Dr. Carl Richelson, professor of Theology at Drew University, will be the principle speaker, using the theme,
"God's Will and Man's Way."

Those who wish to attend the Student Conference will pay a registration fee of $5.

Fifty-two girls from colleges over the state arrived Friday at noon for the fall workshop of the Georgia Home Economics Association college clubs. The meetings began at 2 o'clock for the first general session. The welcome was given by Beverly Perkins, president of the GTC club. Becky Gabbott, GSCW, gave the response. Dr. Jessie Mize, president of the GHEA, spoke to the group on "Relationships of GHEA to AHEA."

The GTC club entertained with a tea at the home management house during the afternoon.

A banquet was held at Mrs.
Bryant's Kitchen Friday night with Dr. Zach S. Henderson as guest speaker. He spoke on "Home Economics — Its Potentials for Greater Service."
After the banquet, there was a record dance in Cone Hall.
The girls attending the workshop, home economics majors from the local club, and boys on campus were invited.

The group reassembled Saturday morning for reports, business meeting and the nomination of a candidate for National president of AHEA. Marilyn Middleton, GSCW, was nominated.
Saturday noon ended the fall workshop. The GTC club would like to thank everyone on campus who had a part in making our workshop the success it was.

FBLA Officers Installed Here

The officers of the FBLA Club were installed at a beautiful candlelight service presided over by Stephen B.

Department.

The officers installed were as follows:

President, Bob Fuqua, vice president, Joel Cooper, secretary, Rose Watkins, treasurer, Gloria Averitt, publicity chairman, Carolyn Pierce, book exchange chairman, Bobby Richards.

Preliminary plans were made at this same meeting for the State FBLA meeting which is being held on GTC campus early in the spring quarter.
